

WXAD wireless streaming adapter

Yamaha are excited to announce a brand new addition to the MusicCast family that allows almost any device to become part of your multi-room world.

Introducing the WXAD-10, Yamaha's new wireless streaming adapter. Simply connect it to any audio product you already own and enjoy all the benefits of MusicCast without getting rid of your beloved audio system.

Sporting a stylish, unique and subtle ceramic-like design, the 'ADD' can be placed anywhere and fit with your already existing décor.

Whether it be a soundbar, a set of HiFi components, a home theatre, a CD system or pretty much any audio product you may already have... the WXAD-10 can connect to it. Simply use the RCA connection on the back to send a line level signal, or use the 3.5mm output and control the volume directly via the MusicCast app.

Integrating seamlessly into MusicCast, the WXAD-10 brings modern technology and innovations to your current products while still being compatible with new product you may buy today. You could even use multiple WXAD-10s to send audio all over the house to products you already own; the choice is yours!
